

ANNOUNCING the 2004-2005

Faculty Seminars in the Classics

Thursday November 11, 2004

Myth in the 21st Century

Dr. Judith de Luce

*4:00 PM
SCC Room C*

What insights can Achilles & Priam, Philomela,
Baucis & Philemon
offer our modern world?

Their stories have meaning for us today, not only as we find them in the works of the poets Homer and Ovid, but also as we confront 21st Century issues of war & anger, grief & loss, abuse of power, love.

Myth, concerned as it is with sex and violence, is as powerful a metaphor today for deciphering the human mystery as it was for the ancient Greeks and Romans.

*Professor Judith de Luce
Chair
Department of Classics
Miami University of Ohio*

SPONSORS

The Faculty Development Committee
Department of Modern & Classical Languages
☞ The College of New Rochelle ☛

PLEASE JOIN US FOR CONVERSATION AND REFRESHMENTS